

This is important information about your appeal rights. Please keep a copy.

QualChoice is the Plan Administrator for your employer's health plan. We must follow the requirements of your Summary Plan Description. If QualChoice denies coverage or payment of a claim (in whole or in part), you have the right to ask us to change that decision. This is called an appeal.

What is an adverse benefit determination?

- When we decline to pay a claim (in whole or in part), it is called an adverse benefit determination or a denial. We will send you an Explanation of Benefits (EOB) or a letter explaining why the claim was denied.

What if I need help understanding an adverse benefit determination?

To learn more about diagnosis and treatment codes and their meaning, or for other help, please call. We're happy to help!

Customer Service:

Monday through Friday – 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. 800.235.7111 or 501.228.7111

What if I don't agree with the denial?

If you don't agree, you may file an appeal. It must be received in writing.

How do I file an appeal?

Complete the *Member Appeal Request Form or send a letter explaining your appeal. We must receive it within 180 days of the date you received your EOB or denial letter.

Who may file an appeal?

You may file an appeal on your own. You may also approve someone to act on your behalf. This person is called an authorized representative. If you approve someone else to act on your behalf, you must let us know on the *Member Appeal Request Form.

Can I send additional information about my claim?

You, your doctor or another healthcare expert can send us additional facts. This might help us change our decision. Be sure to send a copy of any added information with your written request.

Can I request a copy of the information used in denying my claim?

You are entitled to receive, on request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of, all documents, records, and other information relevant to your claim for benefits. You also have the right to request a free copy of the criteria used in this decision, and an explanation of the diagnosis and/or treatment code for this service. Simply call or complete the *Request for Access to Personal Health Information form and send it in with your request.

What if my health issue is urgent?

An urgent care claim is when you or your doctor feel that:

- Your health, life or recovery is at high risk, or
- You are having a high level of pain.

In this case, you, your authorized representative, or your doctor acting on your behalf, may ask for an expedited internal appeal. If your issue meets the definition of urgent under the law, we will respond within 72 hours.

What if I don't agree with the appeal decision?Administrative Appeals

If you do not agree with the appeal decision, you may request a second-level appeal with the plan sponsor as described in the Summary Plan Description. The plan sponsor must receive your request within 180 days of the date you received your appeal denial letter.

Medical AppealsExternal Review Request

If you are dissatisfied with the appeal decision, you can request a second-level appeal called an external appeal.

If you qualify for a standard external review, your appeal must be filed within 4 months after the date you receive this notice. You also have the right to request an expedited external review. Please contact your plan sponsor to request an external review.

You will not be held responsible for the cost of the External Review.

What other help is available?

You and your plan may have other voluntary alternative dispute resolution options, such as mediation. One way to find out what may be available is to contact your local U.S. Department of Labor Office. You may also be able to bring a civil action suit under Section 502(a) of Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA).
